

What is the TPP?

The Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) would create a super-treaty which would jeopardize the sovereignty of the nations involved by giving their power to large corporations like Wal-Mart, Monsanto, Goldman Sachs, Pfizer, Halliburton, Philip Morris, GE, GM, and Apple.

- There are currently 11 nations involved: US, New Zealand, Australia, Brunei, Chile, Malaysia, Peru, Singapore, Vietnam, Mexico and Canada. Japan has shown interest.
- The economic power of this group is more than 40% larger than the 27- nation European Union.
- TPP will offshore millions of good-paying jobs to low-wage nations, undercutting working conditions globally and increasing unemployment.
- TPP will expand pharmaceutical monopoly protections and institute longer patents that will decrease access to affordable medications.
- TPP will limit food GMO labeling and allow the import of goods that do not meet US safety standards.
- TPP will institute SOPA, PIPA, and CISPA-like regulations and internet measures which restrict our right to free speech.
- TPP will roll back Wall Street regulations, and prohibit bans on risky financial services.
